

Christmas 2006

Merry Christmas and hello again from Oregon! We hope you are enjoying a blessed holiday with loved ones. God has blessed us this year with good health, time with family and friends, and growth in faith in Him.

Joshua will be seven soon. He is in the first grade and enjoys math, gym, and recess. God has placed a love of His Word, animals, and people in his heart. He is a vibrant boy who surprises us daily with understandings of the world around him.

Serena is two. She enjoys swimming and gymnastics. Like her name, she is quiet and observant; but she does have a distinct mind of her own. She is independent and loves to run around with her big brother. Her current phrases are "Elmo", "Bob", and "Me too!"

Sang continues to enjoy being a mother and wife. Along with the kids, she is discovering what gifts and talents the Lord has given her. The highlight of her year was being involved and attending two of her best, childhood friends' weddings in Chicago.

As for Ray, it was a particularly busy year at the company. 2006 marked my tenth year at TriQuint – and I'm amazed how quickly the time has gone by. This year I was involved in bringing up some new tools for production while experiencing much frustration and challenges with them. With the free-time I did have, I continued to read, take photos, and savor each moment I have with the kids as they grow up so quickly before our eyes.

As a family, we did our annual trip to Chicago over the summer, and it was very good to see many of you. And while the weather permitted, we went camping a few times and marveled in the great outdoors of Oregon.

We wish you a blessed Christmas. And if you are ever in the area, do stop by and visit.
